ARDIE . . . .

NEVER before in the history of motor-cycling has a range of machines providing such sheer value as the ARDIE "SILVER FOX," "JUBILEE" and "SILVER EAGLE" been offered to the motorcyclist.

We are not talking "price," for machines can be built down to a price, nor partially equipped machines, for "extras" can so easily add five, ten or fifteen pounds before a machine is completely equipped. On the other hand, we ask you firstly to read the specification of the model which particularly interests you, secondly, personally to examine it—thoroughly and exhaustively—and finally, to draw your chair to the fire, far away from over enthusiastic Salesmen and the Showroom atmosphere, and to go over the machine point for point with any other, and then—and only then—consider the price.

Yes—just sheer value.

The rigorous conditions experienced over thousands of miles of desert tracks during Mr. A. Wegener's recent African tour effectively proved ARDIE durability.
